Cultivating Healthy Communities
across Southend

Citizen science is defined as the involvement of volunteers in science, so it has the dual benefits of contributing to 'real' science, while also engaging many people with science.

There are different types of citizen science projects, from contributory to collaborative and co-created projects.

At Garon Park we are collecting much needed data on the impact of our conservation efforts, if you would like to learn more about conservation and participate in our surveying, please do not hesitate to get in touch
